

Press Release by the IENG Sary Defence

28 March 2013

Launch of New Website

Today, 28 March 2013, the IENG Sary Defence launched its new website. This website provides members of the public and interested parties access to all relevant documents relating to the Case 002 proceedings against Mr. IENG Sary at the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia, from the pre-trial stage to the termination of the proceedings upon his death on 14 March 2013.

The website currently makes available for download all English filings by the IENG Sary Defence and decisions by the Chambers (with some Khmer and French versions, and redactions or summaries of confidential filings and decisions). The website is a work in progress; it will eventually also include all relevant correspondence between the IENG Sary Defence and the Chambers, including letters and emails.

The IENG Sary Defence intends this website to serve as a record of the proceedings against Mr. IENG Sary, as well as to contribute to the legacy of the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia. As United States Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis has so aptly noted, “Sunlight is said to be the best of disinfectants; electric light the most efficient policeman.” Throughout its representation of Mr. IENG Sary, the IENG Sary Defence has robustly endeavored to protect and promote Mr. IENG Sary’s human and fair trial rights, to protect his human dignity, and to encourage sunlight and transparency in every aspect of the proceedings. This website is a continuation of that endeavor.

The website can be accessed at: www.iengsarydefence.org.
